Dear Hiring Manager,

I am very interested in being considered for the software development opportunity that you have posed on the job portal. I will be earning my masters in computer science from Binghamton University this fall and looking forward to utilize my skills for an opportunity like yours.

I have been put into various technical leadership positions throughout my career. One of such moment was my association with a startup organization called "Canvera". I had a major contribution for the proper function of an organizational infrastructure. One of my software is still the primary software for the organization, generating an average of $5,000 worth order per day. It supports Linux, Windows and OSX and robust enough to process each order that comes into the organization. I was also fortunate enough to have an opportunity to utilize my skills across almost all of the others product in this organization and was responsible for any software related enhancement and implementations.

In the past 6.5 years, I have played critical role in the growth and development of multiple organizations. My roles, varies from team player in large-scale product development, hiring a team of developers, to major contributor for startup environment. My skills includes expertise in feature rich languages like Qt, C++, Java, C#, JavaScript etc. with an exposure of various domains and in depth technical knowledge of multiple operating systems.

I am also a believer of open source software development and I believe an open source community is a great way to contribute, cultivate and develop skills. So I have some of my contribution to open source community like "webkit", "openMPI" and have exposure on multiple open sources projects under apache software foundations.

Enclosed is my resume for your review. I welcome the opportunity to discuss with you personally, what it may seem to be missing in my resume and cover letter and express how my skills and strengths can best serve your company.

I appreciate your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Prem Krishna Chettri
